

Your old wedding dress could find new life in our Angel Gown Program®

It has seen its big day, a celebration full of love and hope.

In the face of tragedy, a donated gown could be remade and help grieving parents have a beautiful memory of their little one, born too early, taken too soon.

The Angel Gown Program® is just one facet of the bereavement services provided by NICU Helping Hands, which offers a wide range of support programs and resources to parents of premature infants in the community.

For more information about the Angel Gown Program®, to request garments for your hospital, or to donate your gown, contact angelgowns@nicuhelpinghands.org.

For Press Inquiries, contact media@nicuhelpinghands.org.

Did you know?

As of today more than 22,000 babies will be able to receive an Angel Gown® garment.

Our garments are carefully wrapped and boxed, then sent to hospitals free of charge to be given to families free of charge.

NICU Helping Hands has never had to turn down a family asking for help during a child's stay in a hospital NICU or following an infant's death. "It doesn't take the hurt away from them. But, it lets them know they are loved and their child's life had meaning."
